

Two vacancies from Department of Business Analytics at the University of Amsterdam

PhD in Explainable Decision Making

We invite applications for a PhD position in operations research with a computer science orientation. In this research, the candidate will build the foundation for explainable decision-making and introduce models to provide explanations for different classes of optimization problems. Solution algorithms will be developed and tested on real-world instances of operations research problems. For more information, visit:

<https://vacatures.uva.nl/UvA/job/PhD-in-Explainable-Decision-Making/786835402/>

PhD in Statistics & Machine Learning

Are you eager to apply cutting-edge machine-learning techniques, develop innovative algorithms, and tackle real-life challenges? Then we're looking for you! We offer a PhD position in Statistics and Machine Learning at UvA. We seek highly motivated candidates who aspire to excel in academia. For more information, visit:

<https://vacatures.uva.nl/UvA/job/PhD-in-Statistics-and-Machine-Learning/786913202/>